(This is the third of a series of four dispatches analyzing the general political situation throughout the United States and based upon observations made by Mr. Lawrence during an 18,000 mile journey from coast to coast. In all, he traveled during which thirty-six different cities were visited in a total of twenty-one states—the most extensive canvass made by any newspaper correspondent this fall.)

Washington.—The mood of the nation, millions of men and women marching to the polls tomorrow, is the strongest in a generation. Unbiased—there never was a time when the political machine meant so little—uninformed, uninfluenced by the feeble notes of the campaign oratory, the election of 1922 is a turning point, a mark of transition from the old to the new in American politics, the beginning of an era whose meaning is not yet apparent but whose direction is none the less away from the methods and maneuver of yesterday.

North, south, east, west—votes投下 with a common denominator of enthusiasm. The critics will say on Wednesday that the administration has been upheld or repudiated as the case may be. Anyone who made such a trip as did the writer cannot honestly say anything of the trend. Study the local state and city situations, observe the personal equations here, there and everywhere, and the administration, the Republicans and Democrats that the state legislative candidates in or, note carry the

Lloyd George Demands Nation Stand by Flag

New Castle, Eng.—Lloyd George made some sharp references to the crisis which has arisen in the near east, and his fall from the premiership in the political address which he delivered before a large assemblage here Tuesday.

"The Near East is beginning to show symptoms of inflammation," he said. "Whatever happens, our flag must not be let down."

Later on in his speech he said: "We had got rid of the Turk, but he has looked at the list of new ministers and come to the conclusion that this is the time for another."

"The Government stands by the flag, my friends, I will be whole heartedly behind them," he said. "I entreat the government to show the Turk that we will not be trifled with and that the Turk must stand by the document signed a few weeks ago at Mudanba."

County Boards Plan Tax on Motor Vehicles to Get Funds for Road Building

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Madison.—The legislative committee of the Wisconsin county boards association today submitted its report on proposed highway legislation to the 71 county boards of the state which hold their annual meetings on November 14. At that time the various county legislative bodies will act on the suggested changes in the state highway law, leaving their delegation to the legislature to the last.

Pointing out that $36,893,700 was expended on highways in Wisconsin during 1922, the report says that an emergency has arisen in the state due to the fact that the last legislature

Washington.—Elections over the country Tuesday had their reflex in Washington.

In every government department there were many vacant places, several members of the cabinet and many under-officials and employees having gone home to vote. The exodus this year, however, was not as great as usual as an increasing number of mail.

Having registered his choices in this manner President Harding will leave Tofton Tuesday to join the allied fleet at Constantinople.

FEVER OF APPREHENSION OVER KEMALIST ACTION

Constantinople.—Constantinople is in a fever of apprehension over the Kemalist demand for the evacuation of the allied military and naval forces, the extension of the nationalists regime here, the imposition of customs and fiscal duties, the condemnation of the Sultan and the indiscriminate arrest of prominent Constantinople Turks.

The French drafthead Jean Bart will leave Tofton Tuesday to join the allied fleet at Constantinople.

RESULTS OF ELECTION

Tuesday night he was to get the results in his study as rapidly as they could be received at the executive offices over an Associated Press wire and relayed to him over the telephone by Secretary Christian.

Four members of the Presidents' entourage are in Washington. Of these Secretary Hughes, Weeks, and Wallace voted by mail. Attorney General Daugherty also voted by mail but spent today in Baltimore with Mrs. Daugherty, who is recuperating from a bad cold.

In her deposition she wrote that when she was out walking late in the evening of October 18th she came upon two men standing near which two human legs protruded. The information along with the announcement that the police no longer are dragging the village in the hope of finding Shield's body, was received here by Col. William N. Maskell, head of the American Relief forces from Joseph Dalton, his representative at Simbirsk.

25 PERCENT SWINE TAGGED FOR "T.B."

Report of Livestock Commissioner Shows Great Losses on Market Hogs

The fact that approximately one out of every four hogs from Wisconsin shipped to the terminal markets are effected with tuberculosis is brought to the attention of Dr. Arthur Kiesau, Wisconsin Livestock commissioner. During the two weeks ending September 30 there were 50,089 hogs killed in four of the big packing plants in the state and of this number 15,120 were tagged for "T.B." showing a percentage of 25 percent plus.

Packers protect themselves against losses by lowering prices and consequently Wisconsin farmers lost approximately $2,000,000 a year on market swine. Buyers are avoiding untested swine.

Circumlocution Petition

Petitions will be circulated in the near future in Rock county for the area of county-wide testing program. When 60 percent of the cattle owners of any county petition the state department of agriculture for a county-wide clean up, testing of cattle becomes compulsory on every breeder in the county and all cattle in the county are tested through joint action of the state and federal departments. The Rock county authorities are seeking at least 70 percent of the farmers to sign the petition.

When a county is once tested the county is protected from reinfactions by regulations adopted by the Livestock sanitary board, prohibiting the importation of untested cattle and limiting the exchange of cattle from infected herds.

Herd Accredited

Herd are accredited when they pass two annual or three semi-annual official tests without reactors. After accreditation herds may be exhibited as such though annual tests are to be made after each test. Accredited cattle from accredited herds may be shipped interstate and into areas tested counties without further tests.

The following state report gives the number of accredited herds in southern Wisconsin counties Rock, 33; Walworth, 45; Jefferson, 51; Waukesha, 46; Green, 32; Dane 25 with the following number of herds under federal supervision.

Millions are now using this simple treatment to stop pain. Sloan's applied to aching, penetrating, and produces a warming sensation. It stimulates new, fresh blood to the aching part. This breaks up the congestion, and since congestion has caused the pain—quick, grateful relief follows.

The world over Sloan's stops rheumatic twinges and muscular aches. It eases aching backs and sharp, searing pains. Good, too, for colds in chest.

The state-federal government agents appraise reacting animals according to their sales value and pay indemnity on them on the following plan:

The owner ships reactors under state-federal direction to a packing plant having Federal Meat Inspection and receives the packing house value as salvage in addition the farm also receives from the State or co-operative ranchers from the State and Federal Government jointly, one-half the difference between the appraised and salvage values not exceeding $90 for pure breeds, nor $40 for grades. Indemnity is paid only after the owner has removed his reactors distinguished his promises agreed to continue testing until his herd is clean, and not to introduce any untested animals.

According to present prospects, the city Red Cross will continue to support a nurse to continue her valuable work among the school children. While the amount raised in the drive fell far short of expectations other sources of income will permit Miss Alice Glenn to be retained, it is believed.

Official action on this matter, however, has not yet been taken. Expenses of hiring her, it is stated, are approximately $1,950 per year, including the upkeep on her car. A total of $68,000 of the $2,674,000 deposited previous to Nov. 1 goes to the Janesville branch. In addition to 35 per cent of balance of this $8,676, or $80,500. Besides this there is a balance on the books of several hundred dollars.

A few sums are still coming in, Miss Alden reports. Milton, Melvin, Johnston and Rock Prairie having previously reported. A city district is also to be heard from.

Pool Will Seek Uniform Handling Of Tobacco Crop

Letters are to be sent out to all members of the Wisconsin tobacco pool requesting them to bundle their tobacco in a uniform manner. The intention is to simplify grading, avoid losses and make the tobacco more easily and cheaply handled in the warehouse.

No definite announcement has been made as to the obtaining of a warehouse in Janesville. It is understood the Hedges warehouse, adjoining the C. M. and St. P. tracks off north Pleasant street will be obtained for the pool.

Rock Grain Farmers Urged to Exhibit

Rock county grain growers are being urged to send in entries for the Chicago show, Dec. 2 to 9. While international is a larger show and there is greater competition in corn and grain, Wisconsin exhibitors are on a par with those of any other state. In 1921 Wisconsin samples at the show won an average of more than $3 each.

A $10,000 premium list and an invitation to "throw our hat in the ring" and fight for the money, is the invitation which the international hay and grain show is sending out to Wisconsin farm exhibitors again this year.

This year the challenge is again issued for us to show against the whole United States and Canada, and Wisconsin exhibitors, with the memories of three successful contests in the international, are signifying their intention to compete again and more successfully than ever for the money and cash.

The premiums are large, first ranging from $35 to $45. There are classes for 10 ears white and 10 ears yellow corn, single ear, 10 ears flint corn, red spring and red winter wheat, oats, rye, two and six row barley, red clover, timothy, and alfalfa, hay, 1/4 bushels, soy beans, field peas, red and white clover and timothy seeds.

The Wisconsin Pure Seed Growers' association sends a representative to the show to take care of all Wisconsin exhibits, to see that they are unpacked, properly tagged and laid out for judging, and returned.

Every Wisconsin grain grower is eligible to compete by sending his samples and making product entries. This is an unusual opportunity for Wisconsin exhibitors to win large premiums and high honors for the state. It is so situated that our grain, grass and clover crops are favored by weather and climate above that of most of the other competing states. Any one who has seed of fair quality and will spend a little time preparing samples has a good chance of winning a share of the money.

The State Seed Growers' association would like to help as many exhibitors as possible to take advantage of this opportunity and if those who are interested will write E. D. Holden, editor of agriculture, Madison, immediately, stating which of the above exhibits they can send, premium lists and instructions for shipping exhibits will be sent. As entries close Nov. 10, exhibitors should write at once.

DRAINAGE PROJECT

Ashland, Wis.—Fourteen thousand acres of land comprising the Bibens swamp, 35 miles southwest of Ashland, between Mason and Grand View, have been drained and converted into the finest kind of farmland. The drainage project under way is carried through. The ultimate cost will be about $24,000, which will be an expense of about $100 per acre to the land comprised in the area.

REPORT SOIL TESTS.

Reports on the soil tests made in Newark township have been sent out through County Agent R. Glassco. The test were made on every 40 acres of land through the aid of the school in the township.

TO STOP ORDERS

Snow and frost will soon stop the use of picric acid, which many Rock county farmers obtained to drain land and for blasting stumps. Order will be stopped at the office of John Swenheit, Madison, in charge of land clearing at the college of agriculture.

CITY PLAN ASS'N VOTES NEW ZONE

Extension of Western Avenue
Business District Recommended to Council.

In a short session, Monday night, the city plan commission recommended the first change in the city zoning ordinance since its adoption, May 29, 1922. In a resolution to the council, it was recommended that the second business district on Western avenue be extended west from South Jackson street to a point near Stone and Chestnut streets. This was formerly a classed as second residential district and under its terms Mrs. John L. Kuhlhofer was forbidden to erect a combination store and flat buildings as she had planned, following the purchase of two lots. If the council at its next meeting, Monday night, acts favorably upon the proposed amendment, she will be permitted to build such a structure which will be used for a meat market.

Stop at Arterial Highways, Urges Chief of Police

Motorists are urged to comply with the new arterial highway ordinance and bring their cars to a complete stop at the 13 intersections specified in the bill, in a statement issued, Tuesday, by Chief of Police Charles Norman.

"We do not propose to make any arrests for non-compliance until the stop signs have been erected. Drivers should begin now to follow out the provisions so there will be no excuse for violations when rigid enforcement begins," said Chief Newman. "So far but few are obeying the ruling, but everyone should start now to familiarize himself with it following it out."

The ordinance gives traffic on Milwaukee street the right-of-way and requires cars coming from River, Corn Exchange, Franklin, Jackson, High, Madison, Marion, Main and Elm streets to come to a full stop before entering Milwaukee street.

The only stop for Milwaukee street traffic will be at Main street intersection, except when a traffic officer is on duty.

Vehicles on North First and Court streets must stop before entering on Main street. Likewise traffic on Pleasant and Galena must halt before crossing South Franklin and South Jackson streets.

Center avenue is an arterial highway with West Avenue travel required to stop before crossing it; the same is true of South River street, at Pleasant street crossing.

PERIODS OF LIFE

Have You Reached The Age of 40?

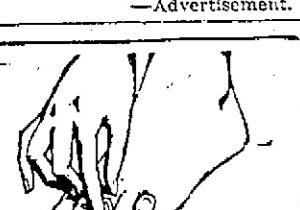

People aged 40 or over should guard against colds, grippe, influenza and pneumonia. The following symptoms indicate physical decay and lessen your resistance to attacks of colds:

Constipated bowels—Indigestion. Sour grassy stomach. Pain around the heart. Shortness of breath. Congested liver. Weak kidneys.

Health, the most precious gift in life, should be carefully watched by everyone. Millions of people today are guarding their health and keeping their system regulated by using Nature's great Herb Tonic—Bulgarian Blood Tea.

The rich juices brewed from the roots, barks, leaves, herbs, plants and flowers of Bulgarian Herb Tea aid Nature to remove vicious body poisons that are mainly responsible for ill health. Bulgarian Herb Tea is recommended by many physicians as a reliable family medicine and drugists everywhere endorse it as a pure healthful laxative tonic.

AN OFF YEAR IN POLITICS: APATHY RULES EVERYWHERE

great interest and apparent importance to the electorate of their state.

Controversies and the conclusion is inevitable that an off-year election is an off-year election, one in which a combination of circumstances entirely unrelated to national issues determines the result.

Not a National Election.

There is nothing of the spirit of a national crusade in this year's mood, nothing of the urge of party or nation. Impressionism is not a national election or all intent in the sense that the states are voting on the same day.

Senator Lodge is the whole campaign in Massachusetts. Senator Folger is the outstanding figure in Washington and so is Beveridge in Indiana, but not one of these men can be elected or defeated because of their sins of omission or commission on national questions personal impressionism popular political virtue will have no bearing on the outcome.

And yet 1922 is not like any off-year since 1910. Think back and recall the active campaign waged at that time against schedule "K" and the Payne-Aldrich tariff and the sharp protest against the cost of living—a new term in political phraseology. Capitalism, an arbitrary relationship in Congress on the part of the republican party, swept the democrats with Champ Clark and Oscar Underwood into power.

Democratic Hope.

The beginning of insurgency came then and the split of 1912 completed the revolt.

The autumn of 1912 completed the democrats on an impressive but they had returned to the currency system, had passed a number of important pieces of legislation and the European war helped divert the nation's attention and began to rally the people behind the president.

Nineteen hundred and sixteen saw war issues foremost and Congress remained democratic as did the presidency. The ill-fated election of 1916 saw the beginning, however, of the present mood. Roosevelt's nomination, voting, irritability, violence seemed to take the place of the affirmative man.

This was not so much of a desire for a particular program as the expression of an emphatic wish to dispense of the old program—the battle cry was "We want a change." Nine years later saw this even more accentuated. The overthrow of the democratic party was merely one of expressing the craving for change and the pendulum swayed to the extreme. It was a developed political wave, the wave of progressivism which gave birth to the Bull Moose party or the tides of conservatism which have spoken the nation's commands in times of economic disturbance and panic.

No Side Over Europe.

Foreign questions, whether America shall cooperate with Europe by a league of nations or by economic partnership, is vital and plays a large part in the discussions of thoughtful leaders in most communities, but it is nevertheless true that the nation is not bestilled. It can as easily be led into one formula as another provided, of course, that every entanglement even remotely involving the use of force is avoided. The American people could be roused on any issue more easily than in 1916. The burdens of reconstruction have cut deeply into the tissue of American life. This is partly the reason for the indifference toward foreign policy.

But if the people are not exercised over European matters, they are being wakened by the mass of domestic problems left by the war, the demands done by strikes, the fluctuating scales of living and wages and the economic upsets caused by the large surpluses gathered at a time when America supplied the world at high prices.

Men who will assist in putting the finishing touches on the so-called "old guard" in both the republican and democratic parties men who will either make or break the country.

Today's election is another experiment for leaders to guide this country out of what Lloyd George in a more or less similar situation has aptly described as "The wilderness."

But if the people are not exercised over European matters, they are being wakened by the mass of domestic problems left by the war, the demands done by strikes, the fluctuating scales of living and wages and the economic upsets caused by the large surpluses gathered at a time when America supplied the world at high prices.

Truly an Off Year.

This is truly an off year, a negative year in politics but just as 1916 influenced what happened in 1912 so can it be unhesitatingly said that 1922 will dictate the outcome.

Tuesday will witness the rebirth of the old guard, solidifying in power of new leaders in the republican and democratic party, new faces in the Senate and House, new personalities who know not the old kings of Israel.

WHY WE HAVE THE CHILD ESCAPADES.

In recent years we have been so anxious to tell the children in arms everything about themselves, the procreation of life and its mechanics, that nothing has been left to the imagination or is longer a mystery. The result is that we have children at 10 who are as blasé and sophisticated as they used to be at 20. Why then should not the children have "love" affairs and elope and do all the other things which their elders are doing in these swift days? Instead of an aid to a higher moral standard it would seem that this teaching of all the mysteries of life and advancing the child to the age of 18 or 20 while in the babyhood period has failed in its purpose. They have broken the dolls, taken away the fairy stories, reduced everything to a scientific exactness and the only way the child has of displaying its nature is by entering upon a romance. Then, too, mother wears sport clothes and is trying to keep young and that has broken down parental influence. Apparently we have failed in our experiments in the path of child training and may yet be compelled to return to the simple life and the old tales of childhood. Super sophistication is as dangerous as none at all. We have overlooked the instincts of nature and the inherent qualities of sex modesty as factors in child training and protection, while we have attempted to reduce life to a mathematical formula illustrated by moving pictures.

Anyhow, it must be admitted that the campaign has been properly nailed.

TURKEY, THE IMPOSSIBLE

Kemal Pasha and his Nationalist government flushed with ideas of conquest, have apparently determined that a new Moslem empire devoid of autocracy, with a spiritual state, separated from the temporal, shall rise from the ashes of the Ottoman dominions. In spite of the solemn agreement with the powers at Mudania, it seems that none are to be kept. Britain, fearful of the uprising of the 80,000,000 Moslems in India, compelled to accept the terms of Kemal, is still in the greatest danger. Demands that Constantinople be turned over to the Turks, that the straits be administered by the Nationalists and that the Turk be once more in power over his former dominions in Europe and Asia Minor, are evidences that the Turk feels his strength and the strategical position in which events of the last few weeks have placed him.

We have made history so fast in the last four weeks that it is hard to keep up with it. After a thousand years the sultan has been removed.
This happening was entirely without reason in history. It had been hoped that some day the sultan would lose his power but no one dreamed it would be done by his own people. The adventurer, Kemal Pasha, exercises the greatest dictatorship since the days of Selim in 1517, when that monarch assumed the Caliphate as well as the temporal rule of the Moslem world.

But though the abolition of the sultanic signified nothing in respect of the actual exercise of political power, it may signify much in another respect. The Sultan of Turkey is the Caliph of Islam, the "Commander of the Faithful"—which means that he is the spiritual head of the Sun-nite Mahometans, whose doctrine and discipline prevail in all important Mahometan countries except Persia, where the Shiites, who may be called the Protestant Mahometans, prevail. The Caliphate is to Orthodox Mussulmans what the papacy is to Roman Catholics, and the spiritual headship of the Caliph is recognized by the Mahometans of India and other British dominions by all the Mahometans of Europe, and by those of the French, British and Italian dominions in Africa. This office has been held by the Turkish sultans ever since Sultan Selim in 1517. It has been an instrumentality of political as well as religious authority; and that it is still an instrument of political power is proved by the fact that it was the zeal of the $0,000,000 Indian Mussulmans in behalf of the Turkish Commander of the Faithful that in reality compelled the British Government to accede to the French demand at Mudania, and to abandon Constantinople, Adrianople and the cause of the Greeks to the Turks.

No man may predict just what is going to happen in the Near East. The Lausanne conference has been postponed. Turkish armies are moving into the neutral zone. The British government lacks the political acumen of Lloyd George to meet new situations. Massacre of the remaining Christians is imminent. The whole condition is unsettled and the age-old race and religion war is just beyond the veiled curtain. In this position the United States finds its policy of not mixing in, the best for us. It may come a time when we shall be obliged to enter the field of diplomatic arrangement with Turkey and throw our power to the protection of the policy of the open straits and the protection of all races and religions within the Moslem realm. If we do it will be with the strength and power of the nation behind the government.

Reports from all over the nation indicate the campaign has been dry as a bone if the candidates have not.

Janesville is planning for a charity ball and the receipts will go toward giving such needful support to persons sick, suffering and unemployed. We have had funds heretofore but only in

Immigration Problem Looms Up

By FREDERIC J. HASPIN

Washington, D. C.—Will congress pass a new immigration law at the approaching session?
Will it be made more difficult for foreigners to enter the land of the free and the home of prosperity, or will existing restrictions be so modified as to bring in a larger and steadier supply of the labor that is needed in certain industries?

These are questions of widespread interest and importance concerning which much will be heard when the national law-making body is back on the job. That there will be numerous new immigration measures proposed is a foregone conclusion, and at this time it is evident that their fate
will not be determined without a memorable battle.

Certain interests want immigration made easier. First of all there are the foreigners themselves who are anxious to get away from distressing conditions in their native countries and establish-themselves in the new world of opportunity and peace. Second, there are the steamship companies that find a great source of revenue in carrying immigrants to these shores. They would find it greatly to their advantage if the limitations imposed by the present law were removed or so changed that practically every foreigner who could pass the mental and physical tests would be assured of a welcome when he approached the Station of Liberty.

Various industries in the United States are also interested in more liberal immigration regulations.
Notable among them is the steel industry which is being seriously handicapped by a shortage of common labor.

The turnover among the unskilled workers employed in the steel mills has always been exceptionally large. It is the sort of a job that a man does not stick at very long after he can find another at equally as good or even approximately as good wages. The hours are long and the work is grueling, involving perhaps the greatest physical strain necessitated in any kind of labor.

For years Europe was a reservoir which supplied a steady stream of this common labor for the steel industry of the United States. There were practically no restrictions upon immigration and the immigrants from the Old World were accustomed to arduous toil that earned them but a bare existence. They found that they could go into the steel mills immediately upon their arrival, that their ignorance of our language or of the work was little or no handicap to them,
and that they could earn wages that were to them almost unbelievably large. They welcomed the chance.

In this stream of foreign labor was check-ed by immigration laws and then came the World War which cut it off entirely. After the war it was as if the dam forming the reservoir had burst and there was a prospect of this country's being overrun with cheap European labor. This led to the more drastic law limiting the number of immigrants who may come from any one country to the United States in one year to 3 per cent of the foreign born of that nationality resident in this country in 1910.

Under the strict enforcement of that law the number of foreigners given the glad hand by Uncle Sam dropped from 1,000,000 to something under 300,000 in the course of one twelve-month, and almost immediately the steel industry encountered difficulties in securing a normal supply of common labor.

When wages of steel workers were voluntarily
raised just at the time wages in other industries
were generally being reduced and when the Railroad Labor Board was slashing the pay of railway employees there were many expressions of surprise and not a few of criticism. Employers in other lines who subscribed to the idea that labor must be deflated felt that the controlling factors in the steel industry were upsetting the application.

"How can we get wages back to normal?" they asked, "if the steel people grant increases that are not even demanded of them?"

The truth of the situation was that the steel interests were bidding for labor which they had to have. American born workers will not take those jobs at wage rates which they can command elsewhere, the foreigners already here move steadily from the steel mills to other industries, and the reduced labor supply from Europe will not meet the demand.

catch in it somewhere.

Who's Who Today

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

FOR THE COMMON GOOD
You shall never be great by your selfish deeds
And the thing which you boast as skill;
And, save it is upon a nation's needs,
In vain is the iron will.

FOR EVER THE BADGE OF THE GREATER MAN
Is to sink himself for the common plan.
This is the lesson that life has taught
Since the days of the earliest age.

WHO, FOR HIMSELF HAS LIVED AND FOUGHT
Has vanished from history's page;

And all in vain was that mortal's birth
Who did not better the ways of earth.

GATHER YOUR MONEY AND BUILD YOUR FAME
And rise to the heights of skill;

But time shall give to the winds your name.

WHEN YOUR BEAUTIFUL VOICE IS SILENT
By the joy you take you can never live.

FOR FAME DEPENDS ON THE JOYS YOU GIVE
Trade, and barter and strive for gain.

AND SWEAT FOR YOUR DAILY BREAD;

But all you do for yourself is vain.

WHEN ONCE IS YOUR STOMACH FEED
For the world has plenty of selfish needs.

ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT

By ROY K. MOULTON

THE OTHER WOMAN

She has been flourishing ever since the Queen of Sheba, Helen of Troy and Cleopatra began making eyes. But there seems to be a bumper crop just now. When there is a taxicab accident one of them generally climbs out of the wreckage
and makes her escape without leaving a trace.

The newspapers are full of her, and it sometimes seems that there are more "other" women living around loose than regular women.

And how seldom it is that we see one who lives up to the public's expectations. When the public first hears through the newspapers of the "other" woman, it immediately becomes whetted

up to a rare treat in the way of pulchritude.

"She must be a peach" is the usual comment.

"She must be the girl to vamp a guy like him."

That's the way they say it.

A day or two later the picture appears. She generally makes them wait until she has a new one taken. The public takes a look, then takes a look at the real woman, which is usually printed next to it, and then turns away, mutters "Stung again."

The "other" women are usually a very modest and retiring lot. They just hate to see their names in the paper unless it is in large type

on the front page.

It is strange they should be so reticent and shy when the world is talking about them. Instead of seeking the prominence and publicity which would be afforded by a long stay in a cultivate back in the woods, they immediately, heartbroken, rush to the retirement and dismal solitude of the theater or a movie contract.

When we go to buy coal from one of the dealers out in our neighborhood, we find he is a very polite man and knows his etiquette. He always asks: "One or two lumps, please?"

The Black Menace

A CRAIG KENNEDY STORY

By ARTHUR B. REEVES.

The story of the Black Menace has to do with the fortunes of Clare Clementon, ward of a respectable uncle who dies, and she finds herself penniless and penniless, having been dispossessed. There was enough evidence left behind to show that the uncle was the victim of blackmailers. Clare employs Rayon, a detective, to unravel the case, and he soon finds that Craig Kennedy, the clever detective. The story is told by a companion and friend of Kennedy's. The effort is to expose the Black Menace who responsible for the many criminal operations stirring New York. Riley Grubbs, one of the victims, is killed. Another dies before he can give testimony. The center of the operations seem to be a country house owned by a beautiful and mysterious Russian woman, the hostess. Clare is kidnapped and held a prisoner in New Jersey. She is engaged to be married to Jack Speed, a young newspaper reporter.

"On that table?"

"And the papers?"

"Over in that cabinet?"

Kennedy looked about keenly. Then he stood over by the table, on which he placed two glasses taken from another table.

"I'm going to make a final cleanup of that house of mystery out there," he announced finally.

"A regular raid?" I inquired.

"No, I don't know the authorities out there well enough for that. I don't want someone to tip the Black Menace off that I am coming. As it is, we can't be sure just how much influence that Black Menace may have, through his wealthy victims. I'm not even going to tell Speed and Clare until we are actually ready to start."

"Quietly, he thought out his plan of carrying on, as he explained it to me. I must admit that I was forced to confess that it was likely to prove a good one. At least it had the merit of a surprise attack; one that would take the place of guard."

While I made arrangements to secure the fast cars, three of which he decided would be sufficient, Craig over the telephone took care of the legal details of the raid.

On his own evidence he was able to make sure that he would have a way out for "John Doe" and "Jane Doe." As he revealed to me that part of his plans I wondered whom he meant. Was it the polished Monsieur Jacques and the sly-like Madame Rose? Or was it the Black Menace and Breshkaya—or some third parties?

Once having set the machinery in motion, Kennedy was impatient to be off, for every moment now meant that something might happen to anticipate us.

Accordingly it was with great satisfaction than the acid variety, so you can form your judgment accordingly.

C. B. C.—The woman at 24 years, 5 ft., 1 1/2 lbs., should weigh 115 pounds, and the man who is 41, 5 ft., 9 1/2 lbs., should weigh 160 pounds.

"Most men would be pleased to have your hairy growth of hair since it indicates great physical endurance. As you come by this naturally do not let the condition embarrass you nor try to get rid of it, other than giving yourself a clean shave each morning."

Peggy—You need a hair tonic and the scalp should have a daily massage with the finger tips. Send me a s. a. e. for the tonic formula.

Alice G.—You are a little too fat. Wear shoes with round toes, low heels and made on a last which allows the large toe to sit straight. This is the first thing to do in curing this trouble for you.

Embarassed—Dance with your girl friends! You are more sure of yourself & dance till you do it better.

Mrs. G. M.—The splotchy skin and blackheads show digestive or bowel troubles. Diet and continue your outdoor exercise and skin treatments.

J. B.—If curls are becoming wear them even though you are 18. Blonde hair, in order to keep its lustre, needs plenty of sunning, especially while drying after a shampoo.

Mrs. P.—If the baby's hair is thick and healthy do nothing to it other than keep it clean by means of shampoos with castile soap, coconut oil and water. Add to this massage the scalp gently with the finger tips each day. The massage is strengthening and will make the hair as rich and thick as desired. Having blue eyes she will look very well in blue, especially if combined with yellow. Bronze and dark browns will bring out the red brown lights in her hair.

Mabel—Sulfur and sulphur is a most harmless stain for brown hair. However, if yours is just beginning to turn, try what effect treatments with tonics and a massage will have.

Tomorrow—Weekly Hand Treatments.

Health Is Most Vital to You. Hear What Mrs. Kagel Says About It

In Crosses, Ws.—"Motherhood isn't me with a weakness that caused me to become very nervous and weak. My back ached. I suffered from dizziness and fainting spells and my health was miserably poor. My mother-in-law advised me to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and I can say it is the best medicine I have ever taken. It relieved me entirely of these ailments and made me a strong and healthy person. I can highly recommend Favorite Prescription as a woman's medicine."

Mrs. Harry Kagel, 424 Locum Street

Cuticura Heals Severe Itching Burning Pimples

"I was troubled with a breaking out of pimples on my face and arms, which later caused sore eruptions to spread. The itching and burning were so bad at times that it made me very miserable.

"I tried everything I could think of and was vexed but nothing did any good. I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap, and Ointment and sent for a free sample which helped me so I purchased more, and after using one cake of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment I was healed." (Signed) Mrs. V. Kelley, 502 Second St., Manistee, Mich.

FROM GIRLHOOD TO WOMANHOOD

Woman Relied Upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Emporia, Kansas.—"I began using Lydia E. Pinkham's medicines years ago when I was a girl. For several years I had severe spasmodic pains, periods, making me very weak and interfering with my regular duties. I tried several remedies without obtaining relief. I was induced to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound by friends and it restored me to normal health. I often have occasion and do recommend your Vegetable Compound to my friends who have troubles similar to my own. You may use these facts as a testimonial."

EVA ALDRICH, 1218 Union St., Emporia, Kansas.

There are many women who first used our Vegetable Compound during their girlhood days. They found it a valuable help during trying periods. In later years they use it whenever they feel those annoying symptoms which women often have.

It is prepared carefully from medicinal plants, whose properties are especially adapted to correct the trouble women have.

Elkhorn Promises to Give Blues Opposition, Wednesday

Copyright 1922 by Geo. McManus

LARGE CROWD WILL COME PREPARED TO PULL A SURPRISE

Bringing a large crowd of fans, Elkhorn high school will come here Wednesday afternoon to play the Blues at the fair grounds. The game starts at 3 p.m.

Janesville is not taking any chances with the Elkhorn outfit. Past performances of the Walworth county eleven show them to be a scrappy bunch. Elkhorn held Lake Geneva to a score of one. Geneva beat Walworth, 22 to 6, and Edgerton defeated Walworth only 22 to 6. Against Elkhorn, Janesville held Edgerton to a 7-7 tie.

Here's a little more dope. Elkhorn beat Burlington, 26-0, and then Burlington turned around and beat Lake Geneva, 6-0. And again, Elkhorn lost to the Delavan Deaf School, 15-6, and the Deaf School held Walworth to two, 6-6 and 13-13.

This dope gives Janesville the advantage, but it shows the visitors must be reckoned with as a worthy foe.

In preparation for the game, Coach Warfield lectured the local team Monday night on their mistakes of last Saturday. The team won through tight practice with drummers playing music Monday night.

Wednesday game will give the business men of the city an opportunity to see the Blues in action on a day when they may get away from their desks. The general admission will be 35 cents. It is planned to let some of the grade school pupils out to witness the battle at a charge of 10 cents.

Tilden to Lose Part of Finger

Philadelphia—William T. Tilden, the Philadelphia national tennis champion, will lose the first joint of his right hand, according to Dr. W. B. Hartley, his physician at the Germantown hospital. Dr. Hartley said Monday morning that the joint was one of the outstanding players of the conference. Tilden's old coach, Fred Tilden, is to stiffen and improve with Tilden's playing ability. The first joint has been amputated and will drop off in a few days. It is expected that there will be no interference with his tennis playing.

Rank Marino and Dominick DeVito, Chicago, took lead over Jimmy Stowe, pitcher, and Frank Callaway, bather, plus sum of money to Milwaukee for "Wif" Matthews.

Cleveland buys Walter Lutzke, third baseman, from Kansas City American association.

SPEAKING of title chances, Whitewater normal is on the trail of the championship of the normal school conference. The team from the neighboring city, coached by Charles Agnew, is exceptionally strong and shown by holding Oshkosh to a 9-8 tie and its defeat of Milwaukee Saturday, 20-0. It looks now as if there is to be a three-cornered race between Whitewater, Eau Claire and River Falls.

Chicago plans great ice skating season, following selection of that city as site of national meet.

Chicago forms horseshoe pitching association.

Badger and Maroon cross-country teams meet next Saturday.

Scraps About Scrappers—Charles White, Chicago lightweight, won decision over Bobbie Britt at Philadelphia (8). Jack Renault, Canadian heavyweight, knocked out Jack Ryan at Trenton, N. J. (2). Dick Smith, England, beat George Cook, Australian heavyweight, at London when seconds threw in towel.

Mike Gibbons and Mike Collins barred by Minnesota commission on charges of being connected with Illinois. Williams, the speedster from Edgerton on the University of Wisconsin football squad, will stand a good show to make an All-American position this year. His work in the past two games stands him as one of the outstanding players of the conference. Williams' old coach, Fred Tilden, is on the mythical team last year, but it is hoped that Tilden will get full consideration this season.
